1,000 Tons of Bombs Poured On Berlin

RAF RAIDERS OVER CITY FOR 20 MINUTES

22 Planes Lost in Attack; Other Points Hit in Continuous Raiding.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 4 — A great force of RAF heavy bombers unloaded 1,000 tons of bombs on Berlin last night in the space of 20 minutes, the air ministry announced today.

The attack was the first in a series of raids on Berlin by heavy bombers since the beginning of the year.

The assault culminated a day of aerial activity which included a full-scale raid by American Flying Fortress upon the outskirts of Paris and attacks by other American units upon five Nazi air fields in France, including Romilly-Sur-Seine.

Casualties in Paris
A Vichy broadcast said many fires still were burning in the Paris suburbs this morning and casualties included 98 persons and 352 injured.

The German radio acknowledged that some damage and fires resulted from a considerable number of British planes were brought down.

The Germans also reported British planes had attacked shipping during the night in the English Channel, sinking one ship and mauling several others.

Associated Press dispatches from Stockholm, meanwhile said that large numbers of foreign warplanes — presumably RAF bombers — returning from the attack on Berlin had passed over the southern tip of Sweden during the night, drawing the heavy barrage of the war from Swedish anti-aircraft batteries.

One Plane Crashes
One plane was said to have crashed in flames to the summer residence of the crown prince just across the strait from Denmark.

DVB, German news agency, reported in a radio broadcast from Berlin that a preliminary count showed that 14 four-engined bombers had been shot down.

The Berlin raid was the third within 11 days but was not on the terrible scale of destructiveness (Turn to BERLIN, Page 8)

LT. SHERRER HELD PRISONER OF WAR

Father Gets Message; Previously Listed as Missing.

Second Lt. Richard P. Sherrer, son of Harold D. Sherrer, of 226 East Farming street, deputy collector of internal revenue, is a prisoner of war in Germany, a telegram from the war department informed his father yesterday afternoon. The report was received through the International Red Cross, the telegram, signed by Adjutant General Ulio, stated.

Lt. Sherrer, a navigator aboard one of the nation's largest types of planes, was presumed to have been on a bombing mission over Europe when reported missing in action since July 29. An account of the report was carried in The Star on Aug. 6.

The last letter received here, written in England about July 15, said the family not to worry if they did not hear from him as he would be a prisoner of war.

A letter received by Mr. Sherrer this week from his father's chaplain brought the encouraging news that many of the men reported missing in action, were heard from later as prisoners of war.

Third War Loan Drive To Get Under Way in Marion Tuesday

Marion county's "duration organization" to handle war bond sales received its first call for action today.

The call was a reminder from Elmer J. Schoenlaub, chairman of the Marion County War finance committee, and Robert E. White, co-chairman, to be in the Marion club rooms at Hotel Harding Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

At that time, Mr. White who also will serve as chairman for Marion county's participation in the Third War Loan drive, will take charge of a meeting in which all workers will get complete instructions and supplies they will need.

The meeting will complete Marion county's arrangement to take part in the nationwide 15-billion-dollar campaign, exclusive of bank purchases, which will get under way on Thursday and continue the rest of the month.

William Doody of Cleveland, from the regional War Finance committee staff, will explain the various issues to be offered during the campaign, and will give the workers specific instructions regarding the handling of order forms and other matters related to the drive.

In addition to all of the "duration" workers named by the county committee, retailers have received a special invitation to attend because of their extensive participation in the September drive. Store employees will have individual quotas of $200 to shoot at, in sales to customers during September, and many stores are planning special activities to boost bond sales.

"The main thing," Mr. White emphasized today, "is to have all the workers at the meeting Tuesday night so that everyone will know his or her part in the campaign. We will need the help of everyone in this campaign, and we're anxious to have all workers at the kick-off meeting so the drive can proceed smoothly."

For the fourth time in a month, Japanese troops have fled a key stronghold without attempting a fanatical death-stand defense, it was disclosed today as allied headquarters announced that the enemy had abandoned the important Rekata bay seaplane base on Santa Isabel island without a fight.

The island lies in the Central Solomons, 145 miles north of Guadalcanal.

Previously, the Japanese had secretly fled Kiaka in the westernmost Solomons, Munda airfield on New Georgia island in the Solomons, and nearby Baitoko harbor.

A spokesman at the headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey said today the Japanese had now withdrawn from Rekata bay, long a target of violent allied aerial assault, and it was believed that the enemy had evacuated the entire island.

Meanwhile, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced allied warplanes blasted a seven-ship Japanese supply convoy at Wewak, adding 21,000 tons of merchant shipping to the 2,500,000 tons which Navy Secretary Knox said the enemy had lost in the Pacific since Pearl Harbor.

A communiqué said at least 12 of 35 Japanese fighters attempting to protect the convoy at Wewak were shot down, and eight others were probably destroyed.

An enemy destroyer was left enveloped in flames and the stern ship was blown off a 1,000-ton cargo ship. Only one cargo ship and a destroyer was unreported as hit in the furious assault.

Ticket sales will be started Tuesday, with tickets available at the theater, at the banks and building and loan companies and in the hands of a committee headed by Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz.

Preliminary arrangements for the event, which is expected to yield a sizeable contribution toward Marion county's goal in the month-long Third War Loan campaign, were made yesterday at a meeting of Mr. Planck with Robert E. White, Third War Loan drive chairman, and Elmer J. Schoenlaub, county war bond committee chairman.

The only price of admission is to be the cost of a $100 bond; there will be no charge for the ticket itself, Mr. Planck said. There will be no deduction from the proceeds for expenses.

Mr. Cole would take over his new duties on Sept. 1, but the date was postponed when the postal inspector was unable to be in Marion on that date.

Mr. Cole, former county treasurer, was employed in the income tax revenue office at the time of his appointment as postmaster.

Mr. Lamborn says he has made no plans for the immediate future and will take a vacation. Before becoming postmaster he was one of the owners of the Marion Printing Co., a commercial concern.

Mr. Cole spent today in the postoffice getting acquainted with his new duties.

RUSSIANS ROCK GERMANS AT THREE POINTS

Reds Take 400 Villages in Nazi Hands Since Early Days of War.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 4 — Russian armies, gaining momentum in their summer offensive, were rocking the Germans back on their heels all along a 600-mile front today to threaten three of the Nazis' most important remaining positions east of the Dnieper river.

A Soviet communiqué, broadcast from Moscow, announced the Red army had recaptured 400 villages which have been in German hands since the early days of the Russian campaign in fall of 1941.

Russian troops were reported closing in on Stalino, German headquarters for the Donets area in the south; Konotop, vital junction point of the Bryansk-Kiev railway; and Smolensk, hinge of the north-central area and jumping-off point for the Germans' unsuccessful drive on Moscow.

Bryansk Drive Slowed
A fourth offensive aimed at Bryansk apparently had slowed down but had not been stopped, and only in the Kharkov area did the Russians admit that stubborn German resistance in the shape of frequent counter attacks had halted the Red army without appreciable gains.

The Russian drive reached its height in the Donets area, where the Red army advanced nine to 12 miles on the approaches to Stalino, twelfth largest city in Russia and headquarters for Hitler's southern forces. The city fell to the Nazi invaders Oct. 21, 1941 and has been developed into a strong base.

One Russian spearhead was closing in rapidly on Stalino from the northeast and was reported in the Soviet midnight communiqué to have taken the town of Zuevka, only 28 miles from the city.

11,000 German Casualties
The Russian claims were substantiated by the Berlin radio which announced that the Russians had opened a large scale offensive in the Donets basin, and the indications were that the Nazi commentator was preparing the German public for news of further withdrawals in that area.

Total German casualties for the day, the Russians said, were 11,000, with 54 tanks and 600 trucks destroyed. The bulletin added that the withdrawing Germans were resorting to heavy demolitions of roads and bridges in an effort to slow down the Russian advance.

Tags, which can be purchased only at Lincoln park Monday, will be used as admission into the carnival. It originally was planned to hold an advance sale of the tags with Boy and Girl Scouts as salesmen. However, this idea was dropped at a meeting the recreation commission held at Hotel Harding yesterday.

General Closing for Day
All city and county offices will follow their traditional practice of closing on Labor Day, as will the postoffice, banks and most of the city's retail stores.

The United States employment office at State and Center streets will stay open all day Monday as a result of a presidential decree making Monday an administrative work-day.

The Internal Revenue collector's office in the Citizens' Building on West Center street, also will be open.

Monday's recreation wind-up event will be similar to the special July 5 program but on a considerably larger scale. Recreation leaders look for the Labor Day event to draw many more than the 457 Marion boys, girls, and adults who participated in the Independence Day playground activities. While the July 5 program was staged in the four playgrounds, which come under the jurisdiction of the recreation commission, the Labor Day carnival will be held only at the north side park, the city's largest.

Dorris in Charge
Monday's program will be supervised by Vic Dorris, city recreation director. He will be assisted by the directors and assistant directors of each of the four playgrounds. They are Miss Pauline Stannard of Lincoln, Joseph Petrich and Miss Elsie Coffman of Garfield park, R. G. McCracken and Miss Patricia Gomp of McKinley park, and Ralph Kelly and Miss Helen May of the Oakland-Marion Steam Shovel unit.

Presentation of ribbons to the winners of first place in the various competitive events will be made by members of the city recreation commission, of which

Robert T. Mason is chairman. Ribbons for the elementary or "youngster" division in the events will be awarded at 3 p. m. while (Turn to CARNIVAL, Page 10)

PEOPLES LOAN CO. FINAL PAYMENT SET

Liquidation Dividends To Reach 98.83 Per Cent.

Steps were taken today to clear the way for the twelfth and final liquidating dividend of the Peoples Loan Co. Some time next week—a 3.83 per cent payment which will make the total paid to shareholders 98.83 per cent.

The board of directors and Karl Schell, deputy liquidating agent operating under the state building and loan department, said the final payment will amount to $10,858.08 and will be shared by 287 shareholders. When the payments are completed, final steps will be taken to wind up the affairs of the company.

When the payments have been made the shareholders will have received a total of $260,012.03 since the company began voluntary liquidation on June 27, 1940. W. W. Wheaton, deputy superintendent of state building and loans in charge of liquidation and reorganization, in preparing with the directors for the final dividend, said the company had made a more favorable liquidation than a majority of such institutions, and said both the directors and the shareholders had been unusually cooperative.

A petition was filed in common pleas court this morning to seek final authority to make the closing dividend.

Directors of the company are William J. Gorton, M. C. O'Brien, John Baldauf, George E. Frank and Alfred Donithen. The law firm of Donithen & Michel represents the company. The company was organized in 1915.

CONVOY ARRIVES SAFELY

Playground Athletic Carnival Set for City Parks Labor Day

Program of Contests Scheduled To Open at 1 P. M.; Most Stores and Offices To Close for Day.

Lincoln park will be the scene of a citywide playground athletic carnival Monday, which will feature Labor Day activities in Marion and vicinity. The carnival, which will extend from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m., is sponsored by the city recreation commission and will be the grand finale of the three-months supervised recreation program, introduced to Marionites this year.

All proceeds from the carnival will go into the city's municipal swimming pool fund. The receipts from the recreation event, supplemented by the $1,400 profit realized from last year's Amateur Day, are expected to supply a sizeable "nest-egg" for the pool funds.

Tags, which can be purchased only at Lincoln park Monday, will be used as admission into the carnival. It originally was planned to hold an advance sale of the tags with Boy and Girl Scouts as salesmen. However, this idea was dropped at a meeting the recreation commission held at Hotel Harding yesterday.

FIRM GRIP SEIZED ON 10-MILE STRIP; OPPOSITION WEAK

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 4 — British and Canadian troops have clamped a firm hold on a 10-mile bridgehead between Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni on the Italian toe seizing both towns, and are plunging ahead, allied headquarters announced today.

Only weak opposition has been encountered along the coast since the invasion yesterday morning, and many Italians surrendered quickly.

(The German radio reported that another landing had been made yesterday between Cape Spartivento and Melito on the southern tip of the peninsula about 15 miles below Reggio Calabria.)

An allied naval communique today said that "by early Friday afternoon a second series of ships was leaving across the straits with reinforcements and supplies. This work continues."

Capture of San Giovanni was announced in a communique on ground operations, which reported that a large number of prisoners had been taken.

The bulletin said that "relative weak opposition" had been encountered by British and Canadian troops of the Eighth army which spearheaded the invasion.

"The advance is continuing," allied headquarters declared. Demolitions attempted by retreating enemy forces have been "largely ineffective," the communique added.

Simultaneously an air communique announced that allied airmen supporting the invading forces had blasted Catanzaro in the north of the Italian boot and also had swept across the Tyrrhenian sea to bomb southern Sardinia.

Airfields Attacked
Enemy airfields were attacked by allied bombers last night at Capua and Capo Dichino, headquarters announced. Capua lies northeast of Naples. All the bombers returned.

In southern Sardinia enemy radio installations were attacked by fighter-bombers and fighters. In addition to Catanzaro, medium and light bombers and fighter bombers hit enemy communications at Cosenza, on the west coast of Italy just above the tip of the boot.

(The United Nations radio at Algiers said the British battleships Valiant and Warspite took part in the overnight operation during the landings and shelled axis positions. Two cruisers, six destroyers, two monitors and two gun boats also were engaged, the broadcast said, adding that the Italian fleet has not yet been sighted.)

Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent reported in a delayed dispatch written after he had been ashore in the Reggio Calabria area for two hours that he had not seen a casualty up to that time.

Today's Rome communique admitted the fall of Reggio Calabria, San Giovanni and Melito and said the allies had established several bridgeheads on the extreme southern tip of Calabria with naval support and "overwhelming superiority in the air."

Area's Largest City
Reggio Calabria is the area's largest city with a normal population of 130,000 persons. It is almost all of modern construction, as the old city was razed by an earthquake in 1908. San Giovanni is a little larger than a village.

(The Berlin broadcast which reported the second landing on the tip of the peninsula said the invaders had encountered Italian "protective forces" which retreated to mountain defense positions.)

The heaviest single air assault was delivered by the Liberators of the U. S. Ninth air force, which laid direct hits on the railway station, engine repair shops and warehouses at Sulmona, and covered the railway yards with bomb bursts.

Violent detonations also were set off in an explosives factory near the railway center, Calfo announced. Six allied planes were lost in this and other attacks.

Planes from North Africa met little opposition, and shot down two enemy fighters, while one allied ship was lost in Thursday night patrols. Three other enemy planes were destroyed off North Africa and southern Italy yesterday and the night before.

(The Italians claimed 21 allied planes were shot down.) Reports said at least one air field now is in allied hands.

Invaders Driving Into Italy Far in Advance of Schedule

By SHOLTO WATT
Representing the Combined Canadian Press
(Distributed by The Associated Press)

AT MESSINA STRAIT, Sept. 3 — (Delayed) — Reports coming from the Italian mainland show that objectives on the Canadian sector of the new allied bridgehead are being taken far ahead of schedule and that the British are "steering ahead like a scalded cat."

At 10 a. m. I was informed by headquarters that the first Canadian formation had made such progress that it was taking objectives assigned to second formation. The first line of hill forts had been taken.

As I drove down from headquarters I saw landing craft returning from Italy and many others putting out, while at one point I counted more than 100 craft afloat in the narrow Messina strait.

This vast array of shipping was only attacked once—by an effective salvo—as long as I was watching. Fires were still burning on the mainland which were started by the night's tremendous barrage, but there were few visible signs of fighting on shore.

Indeed, headquarters received a report that there were no Germans on the shore while the Italians were surrendering in droves, just as in Sicily.

I saw prisoners being brought ashore to crowded beaches and nine heavy guns that had been captured.

Besides the prisoners taken on the mainland there has also been a steady trickle for several days of Italians coming over on their own in rowboats at night, including some naval personnel.

Local residents give the impression of being pleased at the invasion. They still are smiling, waving greetings and sometimes throwing gifts of fruit despite the fact that most of them took refuge in the early hours this morning when General Mont-

Noted Missionary Evangelist and Writer Coming To Marion

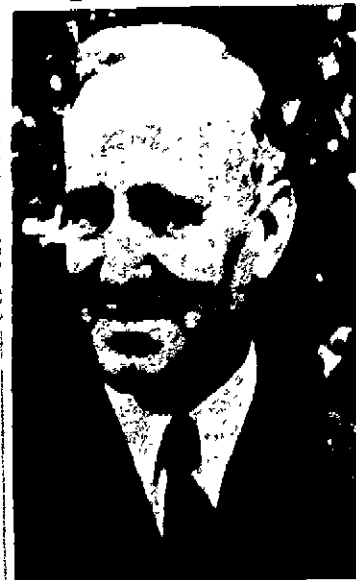

Dr. E. Stanley Jones To Conduct Six-day Mission Here.

Dr. E. Stanley Jones will be in Marion Sept. 26 through Oct. 1 for a Marion County Christian mission for which details of arrangements are being completed now. The six-day mission, sponsored by the Marion County Council of Churches, will include services each night in Calvary Evangelical church here with Dr. Jones speaking.

Noted as a missionary evangelist and Christian statesman, Dr. Jones is well-known throughout America through the 11 books which have come from his pen and which have been among the "best sellers" in America and England.

Preparing New Book. He is now in the process of preparing the manuscript for a new book, "The Christ of the American Road," which will be off the press in the course of a few months. He will use part of his time in Marion in completing the manuscript for this volume.

Dr. Jones will bring to Marion audiences the fruit of his keen insight into religious conditions throughout the world as he knows them from first-hand contact with the outstanding leaders of Asia.

Europe and the Americas. He has spent many years as a missionary in India and has been in personal company with the leaders of India, China and other nations of the Orient.

Due to the war, which makes ocean travel impossible for the present, Dr. Jones is giving his time to holding Christian missions from week to week under sponsorship of the department of evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. The Marion County Council of Churches has been able to schedule one of these six-day missions in this community, through the Federal Council of Churches.

In addition to speaking at the mass meetings each night, Dr. Jones will speak at meetings of the Marion County Ministerial association, the Marion Council of United Church Women, civic clubs and other organizations and educational institutions in and near Marion.

Thursday, Sept. 30, he will be principal speaker at the annual convention of the Ohio Council of Church Women in Columbus. Each morning during his stay here he will broadcast over radio station WMRN on the morning meditation hour at 9:15.

In a statement concerning the mission Rev. M. Hertzler, president of the Marion County Council of churches, declared, "Practically all of the churches of the city and county as well as many churches of adjoining counties within a 30-mile radius of Marion have indicated their enthusiastic desire to cooperate in this six-day Christian mission. For many folks of the community this offers the opportunity of a lifetime to hear and fellowship with so outstanding a Christian leader and statesman as Dr. E. Stanley Jones."

Labor Day Message

A Sermonette By REV. W. E. ZIMMERMAN
Pastor of First Church of the Nazarene

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

As we approach this Labor Day we feel a deeper sense of gratitude to the great army of laborers of our nation than ever before. When this war is won the laborers of this great nation will share in the victory along with those in the armed services. However there is danger that the glory of the task already achieved will be spoiled by failure to keep faithful to the end. The last half of a job is always the hardest part to do. So this is where the admonition of our text comes in. The admonition of the text is to be steadfast and unmovable and always to abound in the work of the Lord. Preceding the text and in the text we find three suggestions on how to make this possible.

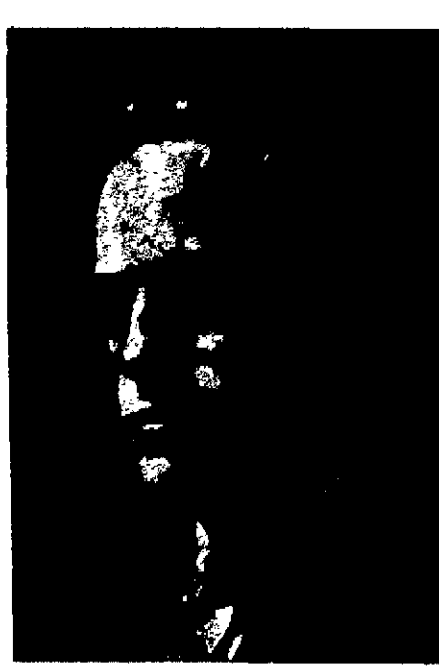

THEREFORE the text refers to what has been said before. Paul had justified a treasure on immortality and how that we could have victory over death and the grave through Jesus Christ our Lord. Herein lies the first great inspiring force that will keep us on any job until it is completed. If we can realize that whatever task we are doing is linked up with our eternal happiness, then it is going to help us.

THE third suggestion that will make our work thrilling to the end is found in the last clause of the text when it says, "Inasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." A cup of cold water given in the name of the Lord will not lose its reward. No task is too small nor any job too large for the Lord to see that it is rightly rewarded.

A traveler stopped by a group of men working on a cathedral. He asked one of the men what he was doing. The man looked up in disgust and said, "Just pounding these stones." He moved on and asked another the same question. He said, "I'm earning a living for my wife and kids." He went to another and asked the same question. He looked up with a smile and said, "I'm building a temple for the Lord." Needless to say the last man had found the secret of real living.

Former Marion Man, Pastor at Toledo, To Preach in Home Church Tomorrow

Schedules To Change in 2 Marion Churches

Schedules of two Marion churches will change for the fall and winter seasons. The Salem Evangelical church will open at 10:30 a. m. instead of at 10 but the Sunday school hour will remain at 9 a. m. Services in First Evangelical and Reformed church which have been scheduled with the worship hour at 9:15 a. m. followed by Sunday school at 10:15 will be reversed. The hour of Sunday school will be 9:15 a. m. while opening of the worship service has been set for 10:15.

Father Gets Medal Awarded Former Marion Sergeant

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, Sept. 4.—Staff Sgt. Robert L. Snyder, 37, missing in action since March 1, and listed as killed by the Army, has been awarded the army's medal and two oak leaf clusters. Adjutant General James Lino has informed his father, Clay Snyder, of Williamsport.

The medal and the oak leaf clusters will be presented to the father. Snyder is listed to return with his crew from a bombing mission over Axis territory.

Sgt. Snyder, who entered the Army April 10, 1942, left for overseas service in November. He was a rear gunner on a B-28 bomber.

A former resident of Marion, Sgt. Snyder was associated with Andy Jackson in the A. & B. Market, at the time of his induction.

Another resident of Williamsport, northeast of Mt. Gilead, has been reported by the war department as a casualty. Sgt. Wilbur Zeger, 22, has been missing since Aug. 1 in the Mediterranean area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zeger.

Sgt. Zeger, rear gunner on a Liberator bomber, has been in service since July 1942, a graduate of Johnsville High school, he was employed by the North Electric Co. in Galion before his induction.

Season's Last Meeting Scheduled by C.Y.P.U.

The last meeting of the Christian Youth People's union for the season will be held in First Presbyterian church tomorrow at 7 p. m. in charge of the youth group of Central Christian church. The climactic phase of the summer's study theme, "Pathways That Lead to God," will be presented. The subject will be "Christian Personality."

Third War Loan Drive Posters

The four official Treasury posters to be used in the Third War Loan campaign to begin next Thursday are pictured above. Billboards, shop windows, banks and postoffices are to display them as official reminders of the drive to raise 15 billion dollars nationally exclusive of bank purchases. Marion county's war drive workers will meet Tuesday night to make final plans for this county's participation.

Girl Playing with Matches Sets Bed Ablaze

A four-year-old girl playing with matches set a bed afire in her home at 145 Scioto street shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Fire department records show. The mattress and bedclothes were destroyed, and damage was estimated at $50 by Chief T. J. McFarland. The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith. The West Side company, No. 1 company and quad truck from Central station answered the alarm.

Nazis Growing Weary, Mrs. Roosevelt Says

By The Associated Press
CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 4.—Defeatism is widespread and growing in Germany, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt declared in an address today, and as an example, she read the uncensored advice of a German mother to her soldier son to surrender that he might stay alive.

The wife of the United States president spoke at a luncheon given in her honor by the commonwealth government in parliament house.

The tide has turned in the favor of United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt continued, but she warned that this should not mean relaxation of war effort or reduction in production.

Prime Minister John Curtin introduced Mrs. Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt visited all sections of this Australian capital city winding by automobile through lane after lane of beautiful wattle blossoms, the national flower.

NEW CUT DUE IN NEWSPRINT

Additional 5 Per Cent Reduction Likely for Last Quarter of 1943.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—An additional five per cent cut in newsprint usage for the 10th quarter of 1943 has been recommended by the newspaper industry advisory committee.

per cent since the start of the year, but the newspaper group has not been able to obtain the necessary information to justify a cut in newsprint usage for the 10th quarter.

The committee also recommended a reduction in the inventory of newsprint in publishers' hands from 50 days to 40 days supply in the northeast and central regions, and from 75 to 65 days in the west and south, retroactive to Sept. 1.

The committee also recommended a reduction in the inventory of newsprint in publishers' hands from 50 days to 40 days supply in the northeast and central regions, and from 75 to 65 days in the west and south, retroactive to Sept. 1.

To lighten the grant of additional paper allotments through appeals to WPA, the committee recommended that the board grant no personal or telephone interviews on appeal cases, and that all communications concerning appeals be "in writing and in writing only."

The new cut, if adopted by WPA, would bring a total reduction of about 15 per cent since the first of the year.

The industry committee also recommended that all appeals, except those arising from emergencies during a quarter, should be filed 15 days before the start of the quarter for which the extra tonnage is needed; that WPA's operations be geared to permit disposal of all appeals by the 15th day of the quarter, and that a list of all the appellants and the additional tonnage requested be published the week following filing of the appeals.

What About Russia After the War?

CHAPTER 39
When the Russia of the future will be the Russia of today. Reporting, not only my business, but the general gift of fore-seeing the war what is the Soviet.

Stalin, his associates, and the Russian quarter-century of there is no question, of any other Stalin said, November 1941, he proclaimed, "The Russian nation to manage its own way." To no doubt but that Russia, left without interference to live its own life, will live it the Soviet way. What kind of Russia does this mean?

Here the prophet treads on the thinnest of ice. Anyone who recalls Russia's 1938 accord with Germany, and then her resistance to German invasion, realizes that she is capable of the most abrupt about-face, of the most amazing miracle.

Yet, on the basis of her present record, I should say victorious post-war Soviet Russia would be socialist, but not internationally revolutionary, atheist, but not violently anti-religious; autocratic, but not anti-democratic.

To the Russians, in this case also, there is no question of any other general definition for their regime. Take the first point, socialism. The 1935 constitution provides, in article 1, "The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is a socialist state of workers and peasants." In article 4, "The economic foundation of the U.S.S.R. consists in the socialist system of economy and socialist ownership of the implements and means of production, firmly established as a result of the liquidation of the capitalist system of economy, the abolition of private ownership of the implements and means of production, and the abolition of exploitation of man by man."

At no time throughout the war, has there been any fundamental change in that constitution or any compromise with private property. Stalin, outlining the period after the first World War and the Russian civil war, said, February 23, 1942: "During those two decades of peaceful construction, there sprang up in our country socialist industry and collective farming; science and culture flourished and the bonds of friendship between the peoples of our country strengthened. Certainly, he foresees further development of the same kind of socialist industry and collective farming after the second World War.

THE old bugaboo of world revolution, however, had been killed by Stalin himself, long before the war, in his statements that communism was not an export product. If it needed to be during the war itself by his repeated statements of the policy of non-interference in the domestic affairs of other nations—a policy that applied as much to Soviet dealings with other powers as it did to their relations with the Soviet Union. In other words, Russia, once revolutionary, took its hands off other countries and now it has abolished the Communist International.

The case for religion seems clear on the record. The Soviet constitution provides, in article 124: "Freedom to perform religious rites and freedom of anti-religious propaganda is recognized for all citizens." But what is more important in this case is: Which does the Communist Party promote, religious or anti-religious propaganda? The answer is that it favors the latter, that it still holds religion to be the opium of the people, and that Russia, as supreme, will be predominantly atheistic. But those who still wish to practice religion will not be persecuted.

The case for autocracy is less clear, being obscured by a vocabulary of words that do not always mean the same thing to all men. By autocracy, I mean independent, absolute rule by a man responsible only to himself; and by democracy, government by the people exercising supreme power through representation.

Stalin, in his November 6, 1942, summary of Allied aims, mentioned "restoration of democratic liberties." His constitution was modeled after democracy in its purest form. It provides, in article 30, "The Supreme organ of state power of the U.S.S.R. is the Supreme Council of the U.S.S.R., which should exercise exclusive legislative power and oversee the actions of the executive body, the council of people's commissars. The deputies to the Supreme Soviet, by article 134, 'are elected by the electors on the basis of universal, equal, and direct suffrage by secret ballot.' That is democracy.

There is a catch in the constitution, however, in article 126, granting citizens the right of forming public organizations, "and for the most active and politically conscious citizens from the ranks of the working class and other strata of the toilers, of uniting in the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (Bolsheviks), which is the vanguard of the toilers in their struggle to strengthen and develop the socialist system and which represents the leading nucleus of all organizations of the toilers, both public and state." In other words, above all the democratic system is placed a constitutional small body of men (about 3,000,000 out of the total pre-war population of 193,000,000), whose power is unlimited. Their leader is Stalin. That is autocracy.

TO SAY that post-war Russia will be socialist, atheistic, and autocratic, does not mean that she will be static. Out of so tremendous a struggle, some change must come. No nation underwent a greater upheaval than Russia after the first World War. But then she was a defeated, dissatisfied power, her structure shattered. After this war she should be victorious and satisfied, her structure stronger than ever. In anticipation of that, one great change may already be foreseen—a more benevolent regime.

This regime, has started to grow mellow with age after twenty-five years of existence. It has been well satisfied with its servants on the front and in the rear during two years of war. It is showing its benevolence in many ways, some small, almost intangible, but all significant. The days of purges, for example, have ended.

With this kind of post-war Russia will it be possible to cooperate? The answer is that it may be difficult, but it can—and must—be done. If the Allies are to win the peace as well as the war.

In the field of immediate post-war problems, no insurmountable differences are to be foreseen. Russia, in fact, as the nation which has suffered most and fought best, has been surprisingly mild in its advance demands, much milder than some of the governments-in-exile of smaller states, which fought for a few days, then fled abroad to demand the dismemberment of Germany.

Summarizing on November 6, 1942, what he considers "the program of action of the Anglo-Soviet-American coalition," Stalin listed: "abolition of racial exclusiveness; equality of nations and integrity of their territories; liberation of the enslaved nations and the restoration of their sovereign rights; the right of every nation to manage its affairs in its own way; economic aid to nations that have suffered and assistance in establishing their material welfare; restoration of democratic liberties; destruction of the Hitler regime." None of those principles should cause any trouble around the conference table.

On both sides there must be a desire for confidence and the understanding and there can be. I am reminded of the story of the officers of the United States supply mission who put up a Christmas tree in their quarters, the former home of the German military attaché on Khlebn Pereoulok, and invited in twenty-two of the neighborhood children. One of them was eight-year-old Valodia, whose father was away at the front. Valodia, being Russian, accepted a glass of wine, but to drink it he had first to propose a toast.

Climbing up on a chair, he stood, raised his glass and said: "To Soviet-American friendship."

His own people, and the American people owe it to Valodia, and to his father, to perpetuate that toast.

U. S. ATTACKS WOLVES
By The Associated Press
ALEXANDRIA, LA.—The government is helping Rapides Parish county farmers keep the wolf from the door these days. Wolves killed so many young calves, pigs and hogs that the Parish police worked out a project with the Federal Interior Department of the sharing expenses of a trapping expert to deal with the animals. Several other Louisiana parishes have had to take steps to thin out roaming wolf packs.

"GERTIE" FROM BERLIN.
Former Pittsburgh schoolgirl, Gertrude Hahn, above, is the "Gertie from Berlin" who now is broadcasting propaganda for the Nazis from a Berlin radio station. For Tuesday, Sept. 7

A day of romantic events, with all affairs stimulated to high terms and outstanding achievements is forecast from an early array of unexpected forces, each occurrence materializing under some brilliant stroke of genius and fortified by far seeing vision or inspirational guidance, may be accompanied by revolutionary moves, with unexpected change, travel, revision of old plans and objectives under this peculiar urge. This is aggravated by certain antagonism from enemies or elders but solidly supported by others in power and financial stability. Refrain from indiscretion and strife and call on glamour or personal charm or grace where it will serve good purpose.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of remarkable adventures and experiences, in which great events are on the way to fulfillments and spectacular accomplishments, despite very drastic and revolutionary circumstances, surprising and unpredictable. Inspiration, intuition or "hunches" may mark such crises, in which there will be question from some quarters and the friendliest of support from other substantial sources. The personal element with magnetism and glamor effective, may be exercised to put over brilliant coups.

A child born on this day will be excellently endowed with talents and ingenuity for surprising strokes of genius, in business, finance, professions or in social practice and position. Its impetuous moves may be detrimental.

The Stars Say—

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, Sept. 5
The stars of the zodiac are in a very favorable position for all manner of romantic, affectional and domestic events which are highly desirable for cheer and the pursuit of cherished objectives. In business there may be a definite material satisfaction, but there may be a definite disturbance in relation to personal experiences. When all is said and done, the day is a very productive and profitable one by assisting its outstanding talents and abilities in furthering its personal realization of growth, energy, finances and other goals. Extravagance or extravagance tend to antagonize side effects to the detriment of personal prospects.

The FIFTH FREEDOM

as free men

Only men and women in a Democracy could have built production records of today. Only free men and women could so completely out-produce the dictator-ridden countries of Europe and Asia. Only free men and women, with the pioneer traditions of individual effort, could achieve so much so quickly. Only free men and women have the vision to adapt themselves, for the common good, to temporary wartime restrictions.

Today our Armed Forces are 97% men who, only yesterday, were in civilian life—living among us and working among us. They, like us, only yesterday were helping neighbors to build young progressive businesses into established companies.

We are still their partners in Democracy. When we produce all we can in every hour of every day, we are helping to keep the Fifth Freedom safe for them—so that it will be here when they get back. We owe them that.

Sears, Roebuck and Co.

"Keep Freedom Safe
BUY MORE BONDS"

THE hard working hand of American labor answers the challenge of the mailed fist of the enemy. While in fascist Japan, Nazi Germany — and in the occupied countries, production is forced by the threat of a lashing whip, a hangman's noose and a firing squad, in this free land each man produces the machines of war of his own volition. Because he has a stake in America . . . in freedom from fear and want . . . in freedom to speak and worship as he pleases. Because his children can grow up happy and secure in the knowledge that their future will be one of joy: not of suffering, privation, militarism and the dread of being watched by villains who would police their very minds and souls, and club them into working for a "new order."

There is no greater evidence of what living and working as a free man can mean, than is made obvious by the wartime production records of our nation! We are called the arsenal of democracy—around the globe, because we can turn out enough fighting equipment and supplies to implement our own forces—and to help our Allies. Could we possibly achieve such a high goal, were not every man and woman at a war job doing his and her level best?

Victory shall be won: and those who work shall have helped to win it side by side with those who fight. By the sweat of their hands, they shall have helped win — and by their steady purchases of War Bonds. Pledges to buy bonds with 25% of their pay are increasing, while almost everyone employed in the nation's war plants is devoting at least 10% of each paycheck to the purchase of War Bonds! And it's all voluntary! That's the great thing about living in a free land: it becomes worth any sacrifice to keep it free!

Hear that whistle? Time for another shift to get on the job! What do you mean, "holiday?" No time off until Victory — then there'll be plenty to celebrate, and plenty of time to celebrate in!

Electricity is vital to the war effort—please use it carefully.

Other Invasion Moves Still Worth Careful Watching

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This column yesterday suggested that you and I, as long-distance watchers of the conquest of Italy, keep one eye on the unfolding of this drama and the other cocked in the direction of a possible invasion of the continent.

Just back to the assault on Italy. Here Hitler's radio messages were being relayed after a fashion that indicated that a decision to invade was imminent. They thought the attacks might come in the Mediterranean theater and from across the English channel into France.

As the signs read, it looked as though the Nazis might have got hold of at least a partial truth. Of course, we don't need the Germans to tell us that there's going to be an invasion of western Europe. We've had that many times off the griddle from the allied high command. What the high command hasn't told us is when this invasion is to take place—and that's one of the paramount issues of the moment, from the standpoint of both allies and axis.

Nazis Correct Before

The Nazis have been fairly correct in many of their forecasts of allied operations. For instance, they called the turn on our invasion of North Africa a considerable accuracy. I was in London several days before that operation and a Nazi admiral in Berlin broadcast the size of the invasion fleet and told where the landings were to be made.

Now with half their latest prophecy proved true, Berlin still believes the other half may materialize. Captain Ludwig Serfort, military commentator of the German news agency, says that from statements by British Prime Minister Churchill it can be deduced "that the potential of the Anglo-Americans is so great as to allow them to deliver two or three blows against the continent."

The Hitlerite says the western allies have enabled a great flotilla of transport and landing craft in the Mediterranean. Spain reports the presence of a large fleet of warships and merchantmen at the great British base of Gibraltar. The Nazi controlled radio asserts that another amphibious force is assembling in Britain and that an Anglo-American armada will carry this across the English channel for invasion of France.

Berlin has pointed to the valley of the Rhone in southern France as an likely invasion place, and has asserted that there are 300,000 French troops in that area. Well, we long have known that there are many well equipped Frenchmen in North Africa, eager to meet the Nazis on French soil once more, and if there is an invasion of southern France we may expect them to be part of it.

Other Interesting News

Along with the German reports we are getting interesting news from allied sources. Edward Kennedy, famous Associated Press war correspondent at allied headquarters in North Africa, in reporting the landing in Italy said it was "the first of Hitler's Europe." The arrival in London of General Henry H. Arnold, chief of United States air forces, gave rise to speculation that he was there to effect further coordination of ground and air forces for an invasion of the continent from Britain. Meantime the Anglo-American air forces have been blasting the channel coast.

Note also has been taken of the fact that General Eisenhower has at his command forces which haven't been sent into the Italian show. They are available for other attacks.

What are the invasion possibilities? So far as concerns the Mediterranean zone, there obviously may be landings at fresh points in Italy. As this column has said before, action might be taken against the big islands of Sardinia, Corsica and Crete. An invasion of southern France among contingencies, and a thrust into the Balkans has been considered.

As for the invasion of western France, which Moscow almost daily calls for, this will take place when the time is ripe. However, the allied high command recently has said that it won't be rushed into this dangerous operation.

Fire Chief Has Trouble Finding Gas For Trip

By The Associated Press

LARCHMONT, N. Y., Sept. 4.—There's a red fire chief's car labeled "Village of Larchmont" in gulf lettering somewhere between Pittsburgh and Chicago—and Larchmont's mayor and the chairman of the local rationing board say they would like to know just where.

James V. Baum, ration board chief, said the village fire chief, Alexis B. Cunneen, set out earlier this week in the car for the convention of the International Fire Chiefs' Association in Chicago, carrying with him municipal gasoline transfer slips which are honored among municipalities within Chester county.

Cunneen reached Pittsburgh, Baum said, and found the slips were not honored there. The chief then wired Baum for gasoline ration coupons, but Baum ignored the request.

"As far as I am concerned," said Baum, "the car can stay there and rot. We have definitely issued no ration for that purpose and we're not going to."

Mayor Harry G. Goeckler said: "It's terrible for that car to be going across the country advertising Larchmont that way."

Cunneen's family said they understood he had left Pittsburgh, but did not know whether he took the car with him.

BRITISH, CANADIANS CROSSED THIS STRAIT TO ITALY.

From Messina foreground above, British and Canadian troops crossed the narrow Strait of Messina to land on the Italian mainland, background. Ever since the Allies captured the Sicilian port, their big guns have been hurling shells across the two-mile channel on Axis defenses to "soften" them for invasion while planes attacked inland supply lines and communications.

REPUBLICANS HUNT PLATFORM BASIS

By The Associated Press

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Sept. 4.—In search of a preservation formula for use in framing their 1944 platform, national Republican leaders talked today of a compromise today which would satisfy the extreme international-minded, the middle-range collaborationists, and the so-called "reservationists."

All factions appeared agreed that a foreign policy declaration by the party's post-war advisory council at the two-day meeting beginning Monday would reaffirm, with possibly some new phraseology, the Republican stand against isolationism voted consistently in and out of congress since Pearl Harbor.

In the midst of this compromise discussion was an unannounced "added starter" who, while not an official member of the council, was invited by Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of the Republican national committee to attend as a special adviser.

He was 75-year-old Rep. Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee. The tall, white-haired Eaton, a former preacher now serving his tenth house term, was passed over when the council was formed in midsummer.

FRENCH PATRIOTS PREPARE FOR BLOW

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 4.—As landings in Italy brought allied forces nearer the soil of France today, French leaders both here and within France quickened their preparations for the assault which one day will come against German forces occupying their country.

Yesterday's vote of the national liberation committee for total military or civil mobilization of all French men and women already is being put into effect by the underground committee of resistance inside France, a spokesman for the committee declared.

The liberation committee also voted to bring to justice those participating in Marshal Petain's collaborationist government.

The decisions mean every Frenchman in France or abroad is ordered to serve the cause of liberation.

The president of the resistance committee in France—as yet anonymous except to his close collaborators—is a young man previously unknown in French politics who has emerged as a strong leader.

This committee has held regular meetings in cities throughout France, including Strasbourg, which Hitler has annexed to Germany.

BROTHER OF R. T. LEWIS STRICKEN IN ALASKA

Erie A. Lewis Dies Suddenly at Ketchikan.

R. T. Lewis of Vernon Heights boulevard has received word of the death of his brother, Erie A. Lewis, 58, which occurred Wednesday morning in Ketchikan, Alaska, where he made his home. His death is believed to have been sudden as he made no mention of being ill in a letter received by Mr. Lewis a week ago.

He was born at Leavenworth, Kan., and made his home in Tacoma, Wash., and on the west coast for a number of years before going to Alaska, where he was superintendent of a salmon cannery for more than 15 years. The funeral services and burial will be in Alaska.

Mr. Lewis planned to leave Marion today enroute to Ketchikan.

NIGHT RACES CLOSE MARION COUNTY FAIR

Crowd Stays on Grounds Until After Midnight.

"One of the best fairs in years" was the verdict of patrons and officials when the curtain rang down on the 93rd annual Marion county fair, last night. The harness races drew another large crowd last night and attractions along the midway did a flourishing business until midnight and after. An account of the races appears on today's sports page. Present plans of the fair board are to have another fair in 1944.

This year's fair opened on Sunday with a full program of entertainment for the six days, including a horse show, military exhibition, afternoon shows in front of the grandstand and night harness races. Exhibits in the various stock and farm displays and home economics, while not as large as former years, lacked nothing in quality and variety.

ITALIAN BEACHES POORLY DEFENDED

By ROSS MUNRO (Representing the Combined Canadian Press)

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Sept. 4.—Coastal defenses here were negligible. The beaches were unmined and there was only a little barbed wire. A handful of Italian soldiers on the shoreline surrendered immediately.

A few civilians greeted the Canucks with hand waves and smiles, some of them parading around with white flags. They said the Germans had withdrawn to the hills.

So far I haven't seen a single German, although I saw one batch of 20 Italians rounded up near the beach.

Sailing under a tremendous British barrage which lighted the smooth waters of Messina strait with a thousand flashes as the guns pounded from 3.30 a. m. until daylight, was one of the most thrilling sights this war has produced.

We could see the whole Sicilian coast a flaming mass of gunfire. Shells whined overhead and ears were dinned by the crash of artillery.

Searchlights on a steady beam spitted the starry sky over the strait like klieg lights at a gaudy premiere. Tracer shells fired on fixed lines from the Sicilian coast right to our beach landing the Canadians to their

Bicycle Stolen 3 Times Again Back to Owner

Once again a Lewis Bibeau bicycle, reported stolen to city police, has been recovered.

Two city patrolmen reported today that they had recovered a bicycle, reported stolen by Lewis Bibeau, 22, of Marion avenue. He told police Wednesday it had been taken from the downtown area Bibeau, who lives at 129 Pennsylvania avenue twice previously. In the summer reported the theft of his bicycle, which of both instances was recovered.

Long Tax Form Is Available for Accurate Return

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Taxpayers who want to do a precise job of estimating their 1943 income taxes for the Sept. 15 declaration will need the long form work sheet which internal revenue offices will supply.

Any taxpayer whose income is more than $10,000 must use this kind of work sheet, but others will find it more suitable than the short-form being sent them.

The longer form resembles the usual income tax blank of the past, except that it's double-barreled—with two columns where there used to be one. The added one is for the victory tax.

It has the usual lines for setting down deductions for income. The items which can't be carried over into the victory tax column are X-ed out—with two exceptions which the average taxpayer will have to watch.

There aren't any X's in the victory tax column opposite the items of interests and taxes paid. However, the ordinary taxpayer can't deduct these items in figuring the victory tax. That is permissible only when such payments are made "in carrying on any trade or business or in the production or collection of income."

For the management of property held for the production of income. It's possible that with either kind of work sheet, it'll appear that the government owes a taxpayer some money. In that case, the overpayment will be applied next March on three types of payments that will come due then:

1. Half of the uncollected portion of the 1942 or 1943 taxes (cancellation amounts to 75 per cent or 50, whichever is larger).

2. Any adjustment to be made on 1943 tax when the final figures are available on the complete report all taxpayers must file at that time.

3. The first quarterly payment of 1944 taxes over and above amounts to be withheld from pay. That's where the estimating business starts in again.

MASSONS OF DISTRICT TO MEET IN MARYVILLE

Plans to attend a district meeting at Marysville, Sept. 13.

Plans to attend a district meeting at Marysville, Sept. 13, were discussed at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M. last night at the Masonic temple. The master Mason degree was conferred on a class of candidates and plans to confer the entered apprentice degree Sept. 17 were announced. Harry C. Schramm of Marietta, grand master of the grand lodge of Ohio, will be guest of honor and speaker at the district meeting. Plans for the meeting are in charge of Stuart Jones, district deputy grand master.

Marion Co. Club Federation Outlines Season's Program

A PROGRAM outstanding in talent and subject material is in store for the hundreds of members and patronesses of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs during the coming club season. The program committee, headed by Mrs. Harold K. Mower, has been able to procure speakers whose lives and work are intertwined with present-day affairs, and these combined with programs dealing with club affairs and the part women are playing in the world picture today, promise a year check full of interest and information.

Coming to Marion under the auspices of the federation on Tuesday, Nov. 2, will be Robert Bellare, a headliner on any program. Mr. Bellare, famous United Press correspondent, and former head of the Tokyo office of that organization, replaces John Guinther, selected by the program committee for that date.

The latter is remaining abroad at the request of the Government, and is cancelling all engagements in this country for the present. Mr. Bellare was captured by the Japanese after Pearl Harbor and following an escape returned to this country on the Grapohm. He was the first correspondent to give the world news from inside Japan after Pearl Harbor, and since returning to this country has given the world startling news stories of the inside conditions in Japan. He was a speaker on Columbus early this spring and his address at that time was heard by a number of Marion club women.

DINNER AND OPEN HOUSE MARK 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Russell Receive More Than 100 Visitors.

A 6 o'clock dinner at the Manor House yesterday marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Russell of 275 East Walnut street. Members of the family and a few friends who attended the wedding fifty years ago, honored the couple. Open house was observed from 2 to 4:30 p. m. and again following the dinner from 8 to 10 p. m. during which more than 100 well-wishers called to pay their respects to the celebrants.

They were married in Marion on Sept. 3, 1893 and have made their home here for most of their married life. Mr. Russell was formerly a mail carrier serving in the business section but has been retired for several years.

Guests for the anniversary dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dripps, Mrs. M. and Mrs. Luther Franks and son, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dripps, Mr. and Mrs. Jess T. Dowler, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sivey and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Russell.

Production Drive Launched by WPB

The Columbus district office of the war production board today marked the district's second wartime Labor day with announcement of stepped-up plans for a new war production drive embracing the formation of many additional labor-management committees.

Edward J. Mulligan, district manager at Columbus, announced that Carl H. Becker, formerly a sales executive of the National Cash Register Co., has been named regional manager in charge of speeding up the program in Marion and other cities of the WPB's Fifth Region, which includes Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, and western Pennsylvania.

Becker, who has been with the WPB since September, 1942, will be responsible for organizing and assisting labor-management committees in the four-state region. Mr. Mulligan said.

The war production drive program in the region will be directed from Cleveland, with two sub-regional offices, one in Pittsburgh and one in Cincinnati. Field representatives will be assigned to each sub-regional office to cover industrial centers in the surrounding areas.

The Columbus district will be under the supervision of the Cincinnati sub-regional office.

J. E. W.

Dear Son:

I've missed you every day, darling, and will be so happy to have you home again.

You will not be able to visit Johnnie Martin for a day after you leave Camp because we must get some shopping done before school opens rather than waiting until the last minute. You remember last year when we were practically "mobbed" at Wiant's buying your school supply list.

Plan to arrive on the 3:10 Friday. Meet me at Wiant's Book Store, 120 S. Main.

Below is a school list you might check—

New Webster Dictionary, ruler, drawing paper and pencils, crayons and paints, yellow tablet, exercise pad, work book, stationery, loose leaf binder, notebook, pen and pencil set, scissors and mechanical drawing sets.

Love,
Mother

NUTRITION CLASS TO START SEPTEMBER 28

Registration To Be Made at Red Cross Office.

Mrs. F. J. Hurst, Red Cross chapter nutrition chairman, announced today that arrangements are under way for organization of a nutrition class to begin Sept. 28 at the Red Cross office. This is the first of the Red Cross classes to start this fall.

The standard nutrition 20-hour course will be taught by Mrs. Milton Moses, a qualified Red Cross nutrition teacher. There will be two classes a week, each two hours in length. Certificates from National Red Cross will be awarded at completion of the course.

The nutrition course is one of the courses which must be taken before a person is qualified to belong to the nutrition unit. The program presents an opportunity to learn how to choose food which will give a sense of well-being, energy and health to a family. How to buy food and the best methods of preserving it are taught.

All those interested in taking the course are asked to go to the Red Cross office, above the Woolworth store, and register. The meeting Sept. 28, will not only be an organization meeting but a class period as well.

LABOR DAY

This Labor Day we salute the magnificent spirit shown by Marion's Men and Women who are working in war plants and doing their share in private industry to bring Victory nearer.

MAY

LABOR HAS KEPT ITS PLEDGE

and we're getting closer to victory!

THIS year . . . as in the war years gone by, Labor will work on its day — turning out the tools and weapons of Victory so that peace may be hastened. We take pride in saluting the forces of men and women who have taken their battle stations in war plants . . . so that our men on the fighting front will not suffer from lack of munitions; and so that they may return safely! For, it takes more than courage to win this war . . . it takes the tanks, planes and ammunition that Americans on the home front are producing in such record breaking quantities. So it is that this September 6th . . . Labor will give up its rest . . . for War takes no holiday!

No Time To Celebrate

There's no time to celebrate Labor day in the usual ways, this year. The men and women who have the greatest right to celebrate the day are just too busy helping to win this war!

Labor has, in the past, achieved certain things in which it might well take pride, but never in Labor's history has it done so much as in the present crisis!

Good Card Closes County Fair Races

Tiney Grapes Only Horse To Win Event in Straight Heats.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Marion county's fairground track bulged with another capacity attendance last night as some 4,000 devotees of the sport of horse racing turned out for the final session of the three-day county fair racing program.

The last racing card proved to be an exciting and entertaining one from spectators' viewpoint, at least. Only one horse was able to win a race in straight heats, which made it a winning race for the horse rather than the exception in the two preceding fair cards.

The all-victorious horse was Tiney Grapes, driven by Ross, who also started Jesse Nutonia, winner of the third race.

Second Same Way
Tiney Grapes won the second heat with a similar finish after being second in the first heat. However, in the third and final heat, Tiney was ahead all the way from start to the finish wire and won by an exceedingly comfortable margin.

The first race on last night's varied card was the 21 furlong race with a purse of $300 and with six entries. The final race, the 14 furlong race, had only four entries but proved to be probably the most interesting of the three events.

The fastest mile for this year's fair program was recorded in the second heat of the third when Jesse Nutonia dashed twice around the oval in 2:08.12. Jesse was in the lead at every point of the track during this heat.

Jesse Nutonia also was in number one position for most of the first heat in the third event. Jesse won over Peter the Tramp by at least three lengths in this heat.

However, Torrid Zone, piloted by E. Roush, beat out the field in the last heat of the final race. Jesse Nutonia held the lead until the field was in the backstretch. She then broke and outdistanced Torrid Zone, who had been contesting closely for the lead, came in to win. The time was 2:12.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS U. S. LEGION CROWN
By The Associated Press
MILES CITY, Mont., Sept. 4.—The Minneapolis Rightists, trained for home today with a 3-2 conquest of Springfield, O., and the National American Legion junior baseball championship.

The Rightists touched Springfield's southpaw, Harry Amato, last night for a seventh-inning walk and a double for the run that snapped a 2-2 tie. Long Bob Danielson, Minneapolis speedballer, protected the lead.

Danielson, although he surrendered nine hits, two walks, a balk and a wild pitch last night, finished as the tourney's top hurler with two victories and a no-decision relief job. But three scouts for major league clubs, watching the proceedings, appeared to concentrate on Danielson and the other pitchers while they were filling in in the outfield.

The scouts who hopefully watched the youngsters were graying Pat Monahan, for the St. Louis Cardinals; Claude (Bubba) Jonnard, one of John McGraw's flingers two decades ago and now a New York Giant scout; and Hollis Thurston, former White Sox pitcher who beats the bushes for Pittsburgh Pirate talent.

All three agreed that they saw no outstanding pitchers, but three of the curvers—Danielson, Amato and Emery Hresko of Flint, Mich.—looked good while performing in the outfield. All hit savagely.

Cards and Yanks Virtually Clinch The Championships

By The Associated Press
The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals virtually clinched the championships in the American and National leagues yesterday as top Soxell of Pittsburgh became the first major league pitcher to win 20 games.

In polishing off Washington and Cincinnati, their closest contenders, the Yanks and Cards stretched their leads to 11 and 13½ games, respectively. Since the New Yorkers play 20 of their remaining 28 games at home and the Cards have last bats in 24 of their remaining 28 contests it is as safe as anything in baseball to assume that they will meet again in the world series.

The Cards came from behind with a three-run ninth inning rally to beat the Reds, 5 to 4. The Yankees had comparatively easy sailing against Washington, blanking the Nats 4 to 0 behind Hank Borowy's five-hit pitching.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks was hit by a thrown ball while seated in the dugout before the game. The injury was not serious, but Dr. Emmett Walsh said it would give McCarthy a "black eye."

Aided by five Chicago errors the veteran Sewell experienced little difficulty in gaining his long-sought 20th triumph. He scattered eight hits in beating the Cubs, 5 to 1.

Whit Wyatt's pitching and Luis Gimo's hitting extended Brooklyn's winning streak to seven with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Giants. Pinky Higgins connected for a three-run inning homer to give Detroit an 8 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns while the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4.

The Boston Braves, Phillies, White Sox and Indians were idle.

NAGURSKI RETURNS TO GRID FIELD

HE WAS AN ALL-AMERICAN FULLBACK AND TACKLE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA BEFORE GOING INTO THE GRUNT GAME.

Here's Another All-Star Team Chosen from Softball Players

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Following on the heels of John Clark's selection of an All-Star softball team to meet Universal Cooler, champ, is this all-city outfit, chosen by The Star with the assistance of numerous local softball fans and officials.

Pitchers—Harold "Fat" Millisor of Huber, Bill Everly of Universal Cooler, and Cokie Weiss of Coca-Cola.

Catcher—Ted Anderson of Huber.

First base—Lloyd Hart of Universal Cooler and Epworth.

Second base—Charles Reid of Universal Cooler and Epworth.

Third base—Les Wilcox of Coca-Cola.

Shortstop—Fritz Walters of Coca-Cola.

Outfielders—Myron Gibson of Huber, Pete Howison of Huber, Kenny Somerlot of General Excavator.

Utility—Kenny Dillinger of Universal Cooler, Joe Darnell of Universal Cooler, Gerald Smart of Epworth, Don "Red" Moran of St. Mary.

Manager—John Clark, Epworth.

Coach—Ray Donagh, Greenwood.

Selectors of this team did not have the boldness to pick a starting pitcher. There's not enough to choose from among Weiss, Everly and Millisor.

However, most of the other selections probably would stand up under any kind of criticism, whether it be well-founded or plain prejudice.

Cooler Leads
Universal Cooler leads all other teams in All-Star selections with five players. Coca-Cola, Epworth and Huber are close behind with four players apiece.

Readers are welcome to protest the team and suggest what players they believe would be better selections than the ones in question. The nomination of John Clark of Epworth probably wouldn't meet with much opposition. Ray Donagh, skipper of the lowly but persevering Greenwood Sunday school team, gets the honorary coaching position if only for his sportsmanship displayed during a hard-luck season.

This second "dream team" to be chosen within the past week probably could match the best lineup most out-of-town teams could put on the field. Its pitching perhaps might not quite equal the snappy catcher-killers which were so prevalent among outside teams in the recent district softball tournament.

Strength Balanced
However, this roster presents balanced strength. In the hitting department The Star's mythical outfit is formidable. Hart, Walters, Howison and Gibson are four of the "sluggiest" balmen ever to swing in Marion softball. Roseberry also is a dangerous batter, noted for his distance smashes and timely bingles.

This team also would be well-nigh leak-proof on the defensive. It would be difficult for a grounder to shoot beyond the inner garden and if it did, you can be reasonably sure that such an outfield as is here chosen would retrieve the ball before anything serious occurred.

However, at least one of the All-Star players probably could not be on hand for any game. He is Pete Howison, Huber Thresher outfielder, considered by many fans before his abrupt departure to the Navy as the city's top softballer. The loss was largely responsible for Universal Cooler ultimately edging out the Threshers for the Industrial league title.

Bob Graham First Baseball And Golf Principal To Qualify for Holiday Sports in Marion Co. Tournament Finals

Squeezing out a 1 up victory in 18 holes over Don McAninch, Bob Graham of the Mar-O-Del public course became the first golfer in the top flight of the fifth annual Marion county golf tournament to qualify for a semi-final position.

Graham, who posted an 80 qualifier for the county event, topped McAninch, a fellow publicist, at the home Mar-O-Del course this week in a second round contest. In his first round match, Graham downed Jim Mayden of Country club, 2 and 1 while McAninch swamped H. C. Lautenschlager of Country club, 7 and 6 in his opening phase tilt.

Two Country club golfers, Bill Isaly and Harry Ramer, played on even terms at Mar-O-Del this week at the end of the regulation 18 holes in their second round match of the second bracket. Isaly won the nineteenth hole, the 366-yard number one at Mar-O-Del, to ooze out a 1 up triumph.

Only two first round matches in the county tournament remain to be completed and both are in the second flight. One is between Judge H. S. Young and Elmer Compton and the other between Bill Ulmer and Marion Cheney. All initial round tussles in the number one flight have been finished.

R. C. Isaly, 1942 Marion County club champion, posted a 5 and 2 win over Mark Pinkerman, another semi-private swinger, at Mar-O-Del this week in a first round match of the first flight.

In other first round results in the top bracket reported at Mar-O-Del yesterday Leo Oberlander edged B. H. Buettin 3 and 2, and John Dugan defeated John McIntyre 6 and 5.

Outcomes of first round matches in the second flight completed this week include: Harry Ramer over Marion Hinkins 5 and 4, Bill Isaly over Bill Luse 3 and 2, Keryn Fields over M. Y. Gast 3 and 2, and R. C. Olin over John Uncapher 4 and 4.

Darkness called a halt in the second flight match between Art Wintersteller and John Jexas at the 18-hole mark with matters all evened-up. The contest is scheduled to be played off at Mar-O-Del today. It will be a sudden-death play-off.

Deadline for second round matches in both flights has been set for Monday midnight. Third round matches must be completed by Sept. 13 and final contests by Sept. 20.

Reds See Hope Fade
of Overthrowing Cards
By The Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—Any hopes the Reds had of ever catching the St. Louis club were blasted in the last half of the ninth inning last night when the Cards put across three runs to defeat them 5 to 4.

The Reds did all their scoring before Billy Southworth's boys got going. They scored a run in the second, a pair in the fourth and the last one in the seventh—all on a double by Bert Haas and two of them by Ray Mueller.

The Cards got two runs in their half of the seventh, and going into the last half of the ninth, Whitey Kurowski was safe on a fumble by Eddie Miller. Ray Sanders doubled to send Johnny Hopp, running for Kurowski, to third. He scored on Martin Marlon's single. Sanders tied the score on pinchhitter Deb Garms' base bunt.

With two out, Harry Walker singled Marion across the plate to end the game.

Joe Wells Still Rules
Ohio Senior Golfers
By The Associated Press
MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 4.—Joe M. Wells, veteran linkster from East Liverpool, continued to rule Ohio's senior golfers today.

Wells, tied with F. E. Jones of West Lafayette at the end of the first day's play, came through with a 79 on the second 18 holes yesterday to edge Jones by one stroke in the 15th annual Ohio Seniors Golf association tournament at the Westbrook Country club. Wells carded 76-79-155, and Jones had 76-80-156.

Wells also captured the championship for the 50-54 year olds, while Jones' score topped the age 55-59 division.

Wells won the seniors crown over the same course in 1942. Frank Pelton of Cleveland, champion in 1941, shot 163 for the 36-hole round to place second to M. West of Lakewood in the 60-64 age class. West had 77-82-159.

Winners of the other divisions were: Class A (75 and over), George M. Gray, Coshocton, 100-100-200; Class B (70-74), C. A. Foster, Cleveland, 88-89-177; Class C (65-69), D. C. Swander, Cleveland, 81-85-176.

BREWERS GO BACK TO LEAD IN AA

By The Associated Press
Milwaukee's Brewers took advantage of a double-header today between the other two top contenders for the American association lead last night to sneak back into first place—by a mere half game.

The Brewers won two games from St. Paul 5 to 3 and 10 to 7, while Columbus and Indianapolis were dividing a twin bill. The Red Birds dropped the opener, 9 to 2, and won the nightcap, 2 to 0, to slip out of the lead, with Indianapolis holding third place, just one game behind Milwaukee.

Johnny Hutchings coasted to victory in the first Indianapolis Columbus game when his four teammates splurged for six runs in the fifth inning. In the second, however, Columbus' Jack Creel hurled a tight three-hit shutout while his mates picked up single runs in the second and third innings for the 2 to 0 win.

Louisville, trying hard for a first division berth, slapped down the fourth place Toledo Mud Hens twice, taking the scheduled seven-inning opener 7 to 5 in 10 frames and winning the nightcap, 2 to 1, behind Norman Brown's four-hit pitching.

Minneapolis defeated Kansas City, 5 to 3.

Harder Hopes To Win 200th Game This Season
By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Mel Harder still hopes to notch the 200th victory of his major league career this season but he'll have to win the rest of his assignments to attain that mark.

The dean of the Cleveland Indians' mound staff tries for his 196th triumph today against the Chicago White Sox and it's unlikely he'll make more than four other starts in the remaining four weeks of the campaign.

If he hadn't broken his ankle last May the speckled right hander would have coasted past the double century figure, but in spite of the 11-week absence from action he still has a chance.

HATS OFF to the PRODUCTION ARMY

We Are Proud To Honor America's HOME FRONT SOLDIERS

We are proud to doff our hats to the fifty-five million workers of America on this their day, Labor Day of 1943, and we honor them as fighters on the home front.

Labor Day of 1943 is different than any other in the history of the United States... and on their day we wish to acknowledge the services of the men and women of industry who are working for a speedier victory.

Labor is building a new world for the people of the country who are deserving of all honor we can give them on their Labor Day of 1943. Men and women of industry are the might behind the lines... they are the hope of the nation.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Food Poisoning

There is, theoretically, some extra danger of food poisoning in times like these when food is short and housewives preserve every scrap of left-overs, but not if the ordinary precautions that you have always used are observed—which is to put the food you are going to use in an icebox.

Mr. Paul de Kruif sounds off in the July "Reader's Digest" about the dangers and says not to leave the left-overs—such as custards, cream puffs, cottage cheese—in a warm kitchen. I found one housewife trembling at Mr. de Kruif's pronouncement that foods can turn into a violent poison in a few hours unless you handle them properly.

Well, I don't know what kind of kitchen Mr. de Kruif has been attached to in the last few years, but me and my gal, we have always put the left-overs in the icebox.

Botulism Infrequent

There have always been epidemics of food poisoning and they are no more dangerous or frequent now than they have ever been.

Also some bureau in authority in Washington sent out a scare-head to those who were canning to beware of botulism and to do this a pressure cooker was necessary. Well, in a city of a half million inhabitants with all of its stores there was not one pressure cooker to be bought. Besides between 1932 and 1942 there were 21 cases of botulism in the United States. Besides, 99 per cent of the outbreaks occurred on the Pacific Coast. Besides not one occurred in New England from 1920 to 1942. Let's not scare 130 million of Americans when you can concentrate on California and Oregon.

The only common vegetables that are likely to become contaminated with botulism are beans, corn, asparagus and apricots. So can all the peaches, pears, cherries and tomatoes and so forth you want with a clear conscience. Mother has been doing it since Ball Run without a pressure cooker.

Germs the Cause

There is no such thing as food poisoning in the sense that the food deteriorates and generates a poison, what used to be called "ptomaine" poisoning. I say this on no less authority than that of Dr. D. V. Whipple as at recent a date as 1941 in "Hygeia."

What does occur is food contamination with germs, and that gives the symptoms of food poisoning. And the only common form of food contamination that occurs in the temperate zone to food that is kept as a left-over is from the germs of staphylococcus and the salmonella group and neither of these is dangerous if you get plenty of water in the patient.

Mostly they are nice, mild little illnesses, never fatal, that make you the center of attraction of the whole neighborhood. Clean you out thoroughly, put you on a forced reducing diet, and send you back to work looking younger and slimmer than ever.

If I had gone into my Aunt Jule's kitchen while she was doing her fall preserving and told her she ought to use a pressure cooker, she would have heaved a skitter at me. And her preserves had quite a reputations—especially for healthfulness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. M.: For what purpose are eye drops containing boric acid and neutral glycerine used? Is diabetes a cause of cataract?

Answer: Boric acid and glycerine eye wash are purely for cleansing purposes. Cataract is a frequent complication of diabetes.

E. S.: Is it harmful to take Second and Luminal regularly? It seems hard for me to sleep without.

Answer: Certainly: these are narcotics, likely to be habit-forming, dull the mind and impair digestion. You will get sleep all right without them if you have confidence in your ability to sleep.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"MARION" — herself!

For a startled instant I now thought that I had uttered the wrong word. Then as Crump plodded on with his story, I realized that I had not betrayed my sudden conviction that the woman whom he was describing was indeed Lilian's missing daughter.

I realized something else—that the man was no longer gazing directly at me as he talked, but had fixed his eyes on the window beyond me. Taking advantage of this opportunity, I shot an appealing glance at Dicky, and framed the name "Marion" with my lips. He nodded vigorously, framed an answering "Of course," and I focused my attention on the resumption of the man's story.

Asks For Menu

"What have you got that's ready to serve, and good?" the older man barked at me.

"I can recommend the roast duckling, sir," I replied.

"Bring three orders, then," he snapped. "Bring your best soup first, and a bottle of sherry. You will join us, my dear?" he said to the woman. But she put up her hand as if she were pushing something away.

"No, no! I've told you that before," she said, and there was something so sort of queer about her voice that I couldn't help watching her.

"What do you mean, queer?" I asked, seeing that he needed prodding in his attempt to tell his story.

"Why, she acted as if she were awful scared of both the men, although anybody could see that the young one had fallen for her hard."

An Appealing Look

"But, then, to," Crump went on, palpably fumbling for words. "she looked as if she were nervous herself up to something, and then, when the men took their eyes off her for a second, she sent me the queerest look, as if she were trying to tell me something."

He paused again, while I fought to keep myself from screaming at him to get on with his story.

"You see all kinds come into a place like ours," he began again. "Right ones and wrong ones. But she wasn't the kind to be making passes at a waiter, and I made up my mind she was in trouble of some sort and needed help."

"Now, it isn't a waiter's business to mix in with the customers, and besides the men looked as if it wouldn't be healthy to meddle with their business. But there was something about that woman—I made up my mind I'd keep a sharp watch on her anyway. And once when the men weren't looking, I nodded my head when she looked at me, so she'd know I understood she wanted me to do something."

Drops Her Napkin

"It's a good thing I did, for when I was serving the duck, she dropped her napkin, and stooped down quick to pick it up. I stooped too, at the same time, and she pointed to a folded piece of paper that she'd dropped with the napkin. I grabbed it and hid it in my hand till I could park it, and she took her napkin with a sweet 'thank you' to me, and went on eating her dinner as if nothing had happened."

"I pretended I'd forgotten something, and beat it to the kitchen. There I unfolded the piece of paper, read what was on it, and then put it and another piece of this paper that was inside it safely away. I went back to the table and waited my chance to nod my head to her, so that she'd know I meant to do what she said."

"Where is—" I began, but Dicky quickly signaled me to stop, and I fell silent, realizing that the man had not yet finished.

"Then, all at once, there was such a change in her you wouldn't believe it. Before she'd been quiet and sad, but after I came back to the table, she perked up and laughed and talked and acted as if she enjoyed the dinner. Not too much, she didn't, you understand, but enough to fool them into thinking she wasn't so grouchy any more. And when they were ready to leave I heard her say: 'I like this place. That was an awfully good dinner.'

Eyes Said Thank You

"Then we'll come here again," the young man said, and then they went away, and if ever a girl said 'thank you' with her eyes, she did when she got a chance to look at me before they left."

His voice trailed off on the last word, and I knew that he had come to the end of his story. With my pulses pounding, I watched him put his hand into his pocket and bring out a folded paper which he handed to me.

"This is it, just as she handed it to me," he said.

"Thank you," I said. Then I unfolded the paper, saw Marion's unmistakable handwriting, and felt as if my breath had stopped.

"It's true, Dicky," I murmured faintly. "This is from Marion."

FISH STORY, MINUS FINS

By The Associated Press

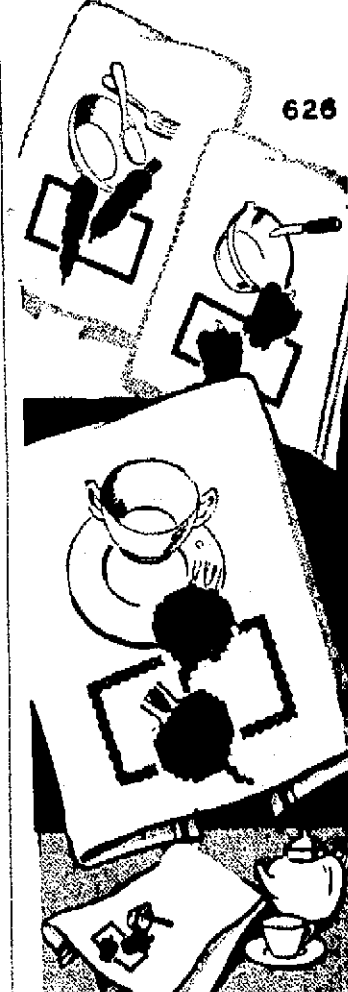

SALT LAKE CITY—A streamlined trout is Harold Twitchell's contribution to the new fish story crop. Twitchell said that for several years he has caught, in Sheep Creek in the Utah mountains, trout that have no dorsal fin. These fish usually are about 10 inches long and are terrific fighters, he said. Twitchell brought one of the fish into a newspaper office to have it photographed.

SWIPE SPUDS, LEAVE VINES

FRAMINGHAM, MASS.—Antonio Florian thought the potatoes in his victory garden were coming along nicely—until he tried to dig one. It transpired that ingenious thieves had carefully replaced the vines after making away with the spuds.
